

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A carrying case includes a carrying member disposed on a top portion of a housing. The carrying member includes a first carrying body having a driving end opposite to a first pivot end connected pivotally to one lateral side of the housing, and a second carrying body having a driven end opposite to a second pivot end connected pivotally to the other lateral side of the housing. The first carrying body has a first width measured between the first pivot end and the driving end and greater than a second width of the second carrying body measured between the second pivot end and the driven end, and is provided with a handgrip thereon. An anchoring unit retains releasably the first and second carrying bodies at a closed position.